1956 BULB PRICES

It is our pleasure to present herewith a list of more than 700 different varieties of daffodils. Included are the preferred flowers of every classification and all shades of solid and pastel colors and color combinations. Blooms of all sizes, from the tiny, fragrant miniatures to the largest trumpets, are offered, and prices range from 10¢ to $200.00 per bulb.

Perhaps the feature of this listing is the fact that it contains all the current offerings of Guy L. Wilson and J. Lionel Richardson, two of the most famous growers in Ireland who consistently produce flowers which win the major daffodil awards in Great Britain and on the Continent. Leading prize winner of 1955 was Empress of Ireland, a Wilson production so scarce that only two bulbs were allotted to the United States. It will bloom in our garden this Spring.

Little England Daffodil Bulbs are guaranteed to be of first quality and warranted as to identity. Also, they are certified by the State Entomologist and his inspectors as being free from disease. They are grown under conditions quite similar to those in Ireland and Holland, in that our bulb fields are bordered on three sides by salt water from which moist breezes supply an element that seems to produce larger and healthier bulbs.

These fields contain more than 1,000 varieties of daffodils, though our listing gives the names of only about 700. If you fail to find the name of your favorite there is a possibility we will be able to supply it, and your inquiry will receive prompt attention.

We are happy to report we have been able to reduce prices on 197 varieties in the 1956 listing. Also, we continue to supply 12 bulbs of any one variety for the price of 10; 50 bulbs for the price of 40, and 100 for the price of 75. There are 316 prize winners included in this listing.

New additions to this list are printed in type like this.

Letters and numbers preceding names of flowers designate the classification to which each belongs. Asterisks (*) following names indicate these are prize winners.

IMPORTANT!

Postage and packaging costs have increased to such an extent that we reluctantly find it necessary to charge 50¢ on all shipments East of the Mississippi and $1.00 West of that point. Don't forget to include this charge with your order.

Please order early — not later than July 10 if possible. Some varieties are in short supply and orders are filled on a "first come, first served" basis.

Orders received after October 15 cannot be filled, as it is imperative for us to begin planting surplus bulbs on that date. Orders received prior to October 15 for shipment at a later date are accepted since bulbs required are withheld from planting.
